Disclaimer: It is crucial that you stack your firewood in a dry location which is exposed to sun and wind, off the ground and out of the rain. Firewood needs to be stacked so that air can circulate through and around it. Throughout the winter, cover only the top portion of the firewood stack. All firewood is seasoned. Seasoned firewood will naturally have bark and kindling. As firewood dries and seasons, the bark tends to fall off the wood. Therefore, seasoned wood will typically have loose bark mixed in with the firewood. Prior to purchase, your firewood was stored outside. Please understand In order to continue the seasoning process, we store our wood outside and uncovered in a large pile. Therefore, if your firewood was delivered during a rainy time or freezing temperatures, you will need to allow the wood to sit unexposed to the elements for several days before burning.

All firewood sales are final.

<sup>2</sup> A cord is approximately 128 cubic feet of wood. Due to the size of the wood pieces, there may be a slight variation in cubic feet upon delivery.

<sup>3</sup> The firewood stacking prices are estimates only. There are variables that could increase your cost, including the distance from where the truck can dump, whether a wheelbarrow is necessary, if steps are involved and any other obstacles that may hinder the process. In general, we only stack within an approximate 25 foot radius from the back of the truck.
